

CANVAS CONNECT 2020

JULY ISSUE

MESSAGE BY THE FOUNDER

Dear Parents and Partners,

The year 2020 has started with dynamic changes. A pandemic that has made us, to think about new ways to live, new ways to educate and new ways of doing everything. Canvas too as an organization has embraced the change and has kept its children's education as the only priority.

Our philosophy has always been 'Education with a purpose'. When we started Canvas we envisioned showing children how to be creative, committed and collaborative. We believed that we should be able to provide children with all opportunities to showcase their inner desires and work towards becoming good citizens.

In the last three months at Canvas we had an opportunity to ask ourselves 'What are the problems children generally face?'. The simple answer to the complex question is 'Health'. Health could be physical, emotional or even mental health. In schools or at home children are generally taught or goaded on how to be successful and in the process we forget to show them how to come out of a failure. How to come out of stressful situations! This continuous pressure leads to stress, depression and isolation which sometimes leads to a fatality.

At Canvas we always believed that children should get an opportunity to express themselves and we should help them in being 'what they truly are'. Hence, the PSED approach which was imbibed into the culture in all our schools truly reflects the present trends and helps the child in building his strengths, identify and work in areas of improvement. The PSED approach helps the child in getting a wholesome view of himself and the world around him. He is initiated into using his own skills and ideas to develop into whatever he chooses.

Canvas tried to bring education (in the pre-school area) to the children in the electronic format. All our systems and processes have been upgraded to take on the challenge that the pandemic threw at us. We have launched the PEP programme, we conducted the summer classes online and all our processes have been well accepted by the parents and the children. We have conducted a wholesome training program to all our teachers to make them adjust to the new normal. We would like to thank all the specialists who participated in the PEP program and shared their thoughts with the parents.

As we slowly open up, the schools are preparing to welcome the children. We are taking special help from our advisory board in building a secure environment for our children. The children should have the opportunity to explore build new thoughts and be human.

Canvas has accepted the new challenge and is ready with a new beginning.

HEALTH TIPS

For children, school is many things—a place where kids learn and grow cognitively, develop social skills, and become independent individuals. At school, children spend a lot of time in classrooms where they can easily transfer infections to one another. But by teaching kids some important healthy habits, parents can help make school and health a priority during the school year. Here are some great tips on how to keep your kids healthy.

Teach Your Child About Proper Hand Washing:

Hand washing is one of the most important ways we can prevent the spread of illness in the classroom and elsewhere. By teaching your child how to wash his/her hands properly—and to especially wash after blowing his/her nose, using the bathroom and before eating—you can help the child reduce the risk of getting sick.

Set Good Sleep Habits:

Making sure your child gets enough sleep is a crucial part of keeping him/her healthy. Sleep is important not only for a child's physical and emotional health but it can play an important role in how well he/she does in school too.

-Give Your Child a Brain-Boosting Healthy Breakfast

Breakfast really is the most important meal of the day when it comes to school going kids.

Make Kids' School Lunch Boxes Fun

Make healthy lunches more fun and enticing with ideas for yummy main dishes and sides dressed up in colorful combinations and shapes.

CURRICULUM CORNER:

Steps to Choose a Creative Curriculum for Preschool

As you prepare children for success in school and life, it's more important than ever to educate their whole self. We can only begin to imagine the future careers that today's children will take on, which is why it's so important that we provide them with a strong foundation. That a whole child approach to education – one where children develop not only math and literacy skills but also the social-emotional, physical, and cognitive skills necessary to communicate, think both critically and creatively, and solve complex problems – is developmentally appropriate and better prepares children for life well beyond their time in a classroom.

Here are 5 tips for choosing the best curriculum!

A great curriculum

- Needs to Meet Your Child's Needs
- Needs to Accommodate Different Learning Styles
- Needs to be Developed by a Child Expert
- Should Be Beneficial to the Adult!
- Needs to Use the Environment

THE WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE OF HOME LEARNING

Canvas International is the front runner in providing online education to students of pre- primary. Considering that current generation is adept in handling gadgets, getting them to use the devices was not an issue at all. Though, getting them to use it judiciously and in a manner that doesn't drain them completely, required a lot of planning and monitoring both by parents and teachers.
